EDITOR THANKS

I would like to thank everyone who offered their support and encouragement throughout this process. I have been overwhelmed by how much support we have been given and I hope that in return of your thoughtfulness, we can offer you this beautiful book that you have all so greatly played a part in.

Jordan, your talent amazes me and I am so grateful for your artistic brilliance that has made this book all that it is. What a beautifully creative mind you have!

Sara, thank you for always being willing to do whatever needed to be done. You have such a beautiful way with words and I have no doubt that you will do a great job with your Jacaranda next year, good luck!

Ashleigh, thank you for being so available to me, you are more talented than you know and I really appreciate how comfortable you made people feel from behind the lens. Also thanks for making us all 'believe in ourselves'...you really are a genius.

Kaleb, thank you for your hard work, dedication to the project and comic relief during times of great pressure!

Peck, thank you for your commitment to the book, it would not have been finished without you! Briana, thanks for your help especially enduring through the shapes.

Emma, thank you for being such a fantastic editor last year, you prepared me well and I am so grateful to have followed in your footsteps, you are magnificent!

Daniel and Josh, thanks for being so willing to help out and for putting up with the late nights and repetitious jobs.

Donna, thank you for all your support and expertise! We have all learnt so much from this process. Thanks for your unwavering commitment to helping us even through the flu season!

Kevin, you were so valuable during this process, thank you for all your help, I could not have done this without your guidance and I promise I won't bother you with hundreds of questions anymore!

Kathy, thank you for putting up with my daily trips to your office on a quest for photos!

Last but definitely not least, I would like to say thank you to my girls for being so supportive and helpful and for being so understanding during this time! I really could not have achieved this without you all!

DEDICATION

Dr Robyn Priestley is more than just a history lecturer, passionate teacher, and head of Humanities and Creative Arts at Avondale College. For over 36 years, she has been the smiling, friendly face that has been an encouragement to many a troubled student. With office shelves stacked full with books and a mind full of knowledge, Robyn's caring nature and a bright sense of humour have made her an outstanding lecturer, historian and mentor.

Growing up in a household of nurses in Wanganui, New Zealand, Robyn always knew she wanted to be a teacher, however, it didn't always seem like an option. With a fear of public speaking and a lisp that caused one Head Master to declare that she would never make it as a teacher, dreams didn't always seem possible. She persevered regardless, and encourages her students to do the same. "Follow your own instincts about what you are good at and what you want to do," she says. "Listen to the encouragers not the disparagers and pessimists. If you work at what you love, the hard times will never be overwhelming."

Her passion for history is equal to a passion for civil ethics and equality – her teaching and core values reflect a desire for fairness and social justice, on an every-day level. In this way, Robyn has been able to effectively educate with life lessons of social responsibility and a rounded Christian outlook. The history of Avondale College itself has been influenced by Robyn's pioneering service, as she has represented a leap forward in gender recognition by her position as a lecturer in academics in a tertiary education institution.

It has been a great personal pleasure and privilege to have been able to study under Robyn's guidance and I am certain that over the years, she has had many hundreds of students and peers that would likewise attest to the significant and positive influence she has had on their careers and lives.

Robyn, you have a been source of inspiration to us all, and for that, we thank you.

EDITOR'S MESSAGE

Tarsha Menzies

A beginning, a middle and an end. That's what they say every story needs. Perhaps this year was the beginning of your story, perhaps it was the troublesome second act, or perhaps you're reaching your grand conclusion.

This chapter of my life has had the driving theme of deadlines, late nights and lists, but amongst all of that, this chapter has had some pretty unforgettable characters and without them my story wouldn't have much of a plot.

Our lives here at Avondale are all a part of one story, each chapter being written by each of us daily. We have our characters, our plots, even our quests for that knight in shining armour or leading lady. There is excitement and emotion, challenge and success. Wherever your story may have lead you this year, I hope that you continue developing your plot, finding new characters and becoming a part of the stories that are being written around you. So students of Avondale College, wherever you are in your story, I hope that the Jacaranda has captured this chapter of the year that was 2012.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Ray Roennfeldt

It was not until I lived in Papua New in the 1970s and '80s that I fully appreciated the power of story. For hours I sat in villages or on mission ships listening to and telling stories. A really good story could be told and re-told again and again, even within the space of a few minutes. The "tumbuna" (ancestral) stories provided the foundations for the worldview and values of tribes and individuals. To live outside of story was to live without meaning.

Muriel Rukeyser (1913–1980), best-known for her poems about social justice, feminism, and Judaism said that "the universe is made of stories, not atoms." One cannot fail to notice that the biblical description of the origin of humankind is in the form of a story; not a scientific formula. "In the beginning..." is followed by a compellingly simple (yet complex) narrative of God forming and filling and blessing a world suitable for the first humans.

The story tells us that we are not merely atoms (or "dust") but are designed to represent God in our relationships with each other and with our environment.

That story from long ago provides the lynchpin for our Avondale 2012 story. It says that our Avondale experience is more than the bricks and mortar of the buildings where we slept, studied, taught, ate, worked, interacted, worshipped, and played. It is more than the snippets of information we garnered in Robyn Priestley's classes. And, it's more than our academic performance and essay writing and marking. It is something that we can't quite grasp with mere facts or even with just one Avondale story.

Every picture and name in this year's Jacaranda tells story upon story upon story. And all of our narratives will be varied, depending on whether we were intimately involved or just standing by. The Avondale story does not finish here. Some will return in 2013 or perhaps for further study in the future. For others, 2012 closes a chapter. For all of us, our Avondale story is not over.

Since 1897 Avondale has made a habit of fusing "a greater vision of world needs" into the hearts and minds of its people. So, our participation in the story on the side of hope, justice, and light will appear as future chapters of a narrative of which Avondale's is only a slim volume—the Christian story. And, in spite of the many twists and turns in the plot, it's that larger story that guarantees a good ending. Finally, in the words of Clarissa Pinkola Estés, "I hope you will go out and let stories happen to you, and that you will work them, water them with your blood and tears and... laughter till they bloom, till you yourself burst into bloom."

RAY ROENNfeldt

PART I

CHAPTER ONE

No story is possible without characters; and no Avondale story would be complete without friendships. The people in your classes, the ones you play pranks on in dorms, who are there for the gaming sessions and late-night maccas runs - these are the characters in your story. Unique, crazy, intriguing, fun-loving, adventurous, spontaneous, and everything in between. These characters, these experiences, are the things you'll look back on in the years to come. They're the people who helped form your story and stuck with you through the whole adventure.

In any story, it's the characters you remember the most. And what a colourful story it is.

ODAILSON'S STORY

ODAILSON FIALHO

DATE OF BIRTH

May 7, 1982

PLACE OF ORIGIN

Rio Grande do Sul, Brazil

COURSE OF STUDY

Bachelor of Theology, Bachelor of Ministry

YEAR OF STUDY

A couple of minutes after arriving at the café to meet Odailson Fialho, also known as Dada, he greets me with a warming smile and a quick hug followed by a kiss on the cheek. We sit outside in the sun. As I begin talking with Dada he opens his hands and responds comfortably and willingly.

Dada is from the south of Brazil, where the people are more amorous and passionate. Dada speaks Portuguese and English is his second language. He is a compassionate man and is not shy to speak. He begins to tell his story; it entails a promise, a ring, and a mission.

SINCE DADA WAS A TEENAGER, HE FELT THE CALLING TO BE A MINISTER FOR GOD.

He also believes that his mother has had an influence on his spiritual life, by the way she raised him.

His mother used to tell Dada that at a young age he was very sick. The doctors sent him home from the hospital because they believed he was going to die. His mother prayed for him. If it were God's decision for Dada to die she'd accept it, but if God were wishing for him to live she would give Dada to God, like Anna gave Samuel to God, to work for him. She would remind Dada of this promise she made to God, but still allow for him to make his own decision, to follow the path of being a man of God, or not.

When he finished high school, Dada tried to escape from his set path. He decided to study nursing. He began thinking, "It was Mum's decision, not my decision." Two years later, Dada had a conviction in his heart, God calling him to be a pastor, not a nurse.

Dada had a desire to become a missionary. He began his theological studies in Brazil, for two years. At the University, every Wednesday, for one hour, people from around the world came to speak. One of these days, a spokesman from the General Conference of the Seventh-Day Adventist Church spoke. He spoke about being a missionary, and how the Brazilians will be more widely accepted around the world if they were to become missionaries.

So, Dada paused his theological studies to learn English, as it would be crucial to accomplish this dream and pathway that was set down for him.

He travelled to New Zealand to begin this goal. However, before he flew out to New Zealand, he met a girl. A girl who he had met before - Leticia. In high school, Dada was her brother's classmate. They all used to play soccer and volleyball together. Dada initially thought of her as a 'little girl'. Five years on from high school, Leticia was not seen as a 'little girl' any more.

Dada had begun his studies in New Zealand when Leticia phoned to say she was coming too. When this happened, Dada phoned his mother to post the ring he had bought years ago. He had set it aside for his future wife, and he was preparing himself to see if Leticia would be the one.

During the month spent in New Zealand, Dada decided to come to Australia. He didn't plan to come to Australia to finish his degree at Avondale College. He had planned to go back to Brazil; life there was far easier.

Back in Brazil, Dada had a job as a literature evangelist. He was a salesman and this is how he would pay his fees. The job enabled much travel around Brazil's many states. One of the many places he travelled to was Rio de Janeiro, which left quite an impact. Dada claims it to be one of the most beautiful cities in Brazil. But Rio has a reputation of violence and drugs, and this is something that does concern Dada. He had bumped into some scary situations during his time there. Eleven o'clock on one night, Dada was riding his motorbike home. As he pulled up at the red light, the car behind jumped out with guns in their arms, holding up the car in front. Dada was terrified, being so close to death.

AMONG ALL OF THIS, DADA WAS VERY THANKFUL FOR HIS JOB AS A LITERATURE EVANGELIST.

He worked through the breaks. In five to six weeks he'd sell the equivalent of 15,000 to 20,000 dollars in books. This was enough to cover nearly two semesters of fees. This is why Dada had trouble wanting to return to continue study in Australia, but Leticia encouraged Dada to return to Australia to improve his English and fulfill his calling.

Dada and Leticia married in New Zealand the same day they came to Australia. Dada considers their marriage to be so successful because he makes himself second to his wife. It's not about you. "Once you become one, everything you desire for yourself you should want and desire for your wife." He believes it's important to make the other person happy in the relationship. You're not just making them happy, you're making yourself happy.

THROUGH DADA'S STUDY AT AVONDALE, HIS PASSION FOR THE MINISTRY HAS INCREASED.

He has been involved with One Mission and created the Brazil trip. Dada and Leticia are willing to go wherever God is to take them.

Dada highly values the ministry. If there is something he is to leave behind for his kids and future generations it would be for them to know the love he has for the Church, the ministry and for God and to stay close to Jesus and the passion for life and enthusiasm will rise.

“ONCE YOU BECOME ONE,
EVERYTHING YOU DESIRE FOR YOURSELF YOU SHOULD DESIRE FOR YOUR WIFE.”

This is what you call a surprise fire. A surprise fire is what happens when someone decides to light a fire before it was intended to be lit, in this case, the night before a bonfire social. The word spread and soon enough a small crowd gathered. This is a perfect reflection of the spontaneous nature of Avondale social life.

The best way to backpack is without any direction. You could find yourself meeting lots of wonderful people, getting yourself in and out of sticky situations, catching trains and buses to new places, and eventually find yourself on a beach in Queensland with a fellow Canadian lathering the beach with the sweet melodies of your harmonica.

They say that travel is the only thing that you can buy that will make you richer. If this is the truth, then Megan Townend is one of the richest people in the world.

Growing up as a pastor's kid, Megan has lived all over Australia and because of this lifestyle she has learnt to adapt to an ever-changing environment. Megan has been fortunate enough to travel to 25 different countries in her lifetime and says that it was her Dad's job that inspired her love for travel. One of the things Megan loves about travel is that she has the opportunity to adapt to other cultures and see how other people live. Megan finds travel exciting, she says that there is a sense of freedom being somewhere different and experiencing something new. She finds that she always comes back so grateful for everything that she has and the opportunities that she has been given.

OUT OF ALL OF THE COUNTRIES SHE HAS TO CHOOSE FROM, MEGAN'S FAVOURITE PLACE IN THE WORLD, SO FAR, IS SOUTH AMERICA.

South America was a place Megan never really considered, but after travelling to Brazil, Paraguay, Peru, Chile and Argentina at the end of 2011, she found herself immersed in a beautiful country full of bright colours, ancient traditions and rich culture.

It is usually only on the Discovery Channel that you would hear stories of people floating down the Amazon River in a dinghy at three in the morning, but for Megan, this story is a reality. With a man holding a torch as the only source of light in the most dangerous river in the world, you can only imagine the adrenaline that would be pumping through the veins. Not many people can say that they have been brave enough to take a dip in a river where piranhas swim freely but while in the Amazon, Megan took the opportunity and made the most of every moment.

Throughout 2012 Megan has served as one of the leaders of the One Mission Team. She has been on her fair share of mission trips, so who better to lead in an area that is of such great importance to her. Megan says that every trip has its highlights so it is hard to say that one sticks out. "Every trip is unique. It is the people who make the trip. The memories that you make with your team cannot be replaced. Each trip wouldn't be the same without the people who were there."

Megan has had the opportunity to make many memories and it is those memories and experiences that have sparked her passion.

If there is one thing that can be said about Megan Townend, it is that she has an inspiring passion for service and mission. Megan wants to continue her travels overseas and do what she can to make the world a better place. Next year she plans on moving to Cambodia where she will work for ICC, working with the hospital, orphanage, current feeding programs and programs working towards stopping child trafficking.

One of the things Megan has been most impacted by are the stories of the people that she has met during her travels: the horrific stories of girls who have been taken from their homes and forced into slavery, children who work in rubbish dumps just so they can eat and people doing whatever they have to do for survival. Knowing the inside stories of that side of life and knowing how fortunate she has been throughout her life, Megan is inspired to give back.

It is her mission to provide for those who cannot provide for themselves, it is her passion to serve in ways that will improve our world.

MEGAN TOWNEND IS CHOOSING TO DEVOTE HER LIFE TO MAKING THE WORLD A BETTER PLACE.

She is endlessly passionate about helping others. Let her be an inspiration to our own lives and may we all see the beauty that she sees in the world.

“IT IS THE PEOPLE WHO MAKE THE TRIP. THE MEMORIES THAT YOU
MAKE WITH YOUR TEAM CANNOT BE REPLACED.”

You can enter a place or community with all kinds of preconceptions and insecurities and merely exist. Alternatively, put yourself in a windowless auditorium with your dancing shoes on, accompanied by the jivin' tunes of a good ol' country band. It is impossible to feel alone when that much sweat is shared between a group of people.

CHAPTER TWO

God – the heart and soul of the Avondale story. Not just God in a traditional sense – God in every aspect of our lives. God as our Father, our Saviour, our Redeemer, our friend. God who comes down to our level and lives in our story as the underlying force, the driving theme. A God who reveals Himself to us through the friendships we make and the laughter we share, through Festival of Faith and 7:28, and through the multitude of Bible study groups and prayer sessions around campus.

God isn't just the heart of the story. He's a thread that is woven through the entire piece.

THIS IS YOUR SPIRITUAL STORY

I can only worship when I have seen Jesus first. Otherwise there is no heart. I have been on both sides. But when I take the time to talk with Jesus and hear what he has to say... worship, it is all I can do.

January 1, 1990

PLACE OF ORIGIN

Rumbek, South Sudan

COURSE OF STUDY

Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Business

YEAR OF STUDY

Third Year

RESIDENCE

Indoor, Watson Hall

Joseph Mapuor is the kind of guy whose personality lights up the whole room. The first thing you'll notice about him is his bright, contagious smile, and his friendly, enthusiastic attitude toward life.

In many ways he's your typical College student who loves hanging out with his friends, playing soccer and volleyball, and dreams of going out and changing the world. As an International Development Studies and Business student, he's got a lot of ideas on just how to make that change happen. But there's more to Joseph's story than first meets the eye.

Born in what has become known as South Sudan, Joseph spent his early years in a country ravaged by war.

HIS EARLIEST MEMORIES ARE OF GUNSHOTS, BEING HUNTED BY REBEL SOLDIERS, AND LIVING A LIFE ON THE RUN.

His family couldn't settle, for fear of the soldiers, and they were constantly moving around. As the situation grew worse, Joseph, his grandmother, and two of his cousins fled to Uganda while they applied for residency in Australia.

It was at the Adventist school where he attended that Joseph had his first experiences with both Adventism and the Adventist Development and Relief Agency (ADRA), something which helped shape his career choice and the course of his life.

"We had to write on the ground. We had a skin or hide nailed to a tree, and painted it with charcoal to make a blackboard. Every student had to bring in one piece of cassava root for chalk, and it really worked well," Joseph says. "When ADRA came in, they brought three boxes of exercise books and pencils, for over four hundred students—it wouldn't be enough." The teacher had a simple solution—to cut all the exercise books and pencils in half, and share.

"I don't know what would've happened if we hadn't had ADRA," he says. "I would say they had a big impact on me, in pursuing my education. They encouraged me to keep studying."

In 2004, the residency applications were finally approved, and Joseph, his grandmother and cousins moved to start a new life in Western Australia—a new culture, and a new way of living. The change in lifestyle came as quite a shock to all of them.

"It's quite difficult to learn English and understand everything around you. It was tough—learning English was the toughest part. Especially the Australian accent!" he says with a laugh. "It's difficult, but I've gotten used to it. Those things which used to be shocking aren't shocking anymore."

Joseph studied at a Catholic school in WA, before moving to Sydney to be with his cousin, and to study at Sydney Adventist College. After graduating and having a gap year, he made the decision to come to Avondale, to study International Development as a way of giving back.

"Being in Australia has given me a lot of opportunities. I have learnt to see the bigger world," he says. "I've learnt that there are people who are concerned about others and what is happening in our little part of the world, and they want to help. God has brought me here."

While living in Australia has been a good experience, Joseph has had to spend more than a decade away from his parents, little brother, and three sisters, who still live in Sudan.

WHEN HE WAS FINALLY ABLE TO GO BACK TO HIS HOME COUNTRY TO VISIT THEM IN 2011, HE CAME TO REALISE JUST HOW MUCH OF A DIFFERENT WORLD HE HAD EXPERIENCED.

"Man, you wouldn't believe that I was culture shocked by my own culture!" he laughs. "Everything there seemed so strange to me! They told me, 'Don't behave like a Westerner; you were born here, you grew up here,' but I'd been away for ten years. I couldn't handle it. Everything was disorganised. It was quite shocking, just to see the contrast between me and the Africans—I have friends in Australia who tell me, 'You're trying to become more Western than us!'"

"Being able to have the opportunity to go to school, to have clean water, and Medicare... live without fear of being attacked, or put in jail... these are the freedoms that we enjoy here."

What does the future hold, after graduation? Joseph isn't sure. What he is sure of, though, are his dreams for a better world—a world without war, hunger, and fear. "I don't think you'll have real life unless you help others," he says.

"EVERYONE HAS THAT PASSION TO GO OUT AND CHANGE THE WORLD—EVERYONE HAS THAT."

"But I think if everyone would actually go out and do their part, their own little bit, we could change the world. When we come together, we can actually change something."

"My driving goal and the purpose of my life is to go out and change the way people live. I just want to go out and serve other people. I want to see children going to school to see children growing up peacefully. That's my passion."

By Sara Thompson

FESTIVAL OF FAITH

I had the privilege of being a part of the "I Will Share Jesus" street witnessing ministry, led by young people. This was held on the streets of Sydney. On my way to Sydney with my prayer partners Orion Ka and George Bernand, we shared our testimonies and sang songs on the train. When we arrived, we had prayer, separated into groups and went different ways sharing literature, testimonies, songs and prayer with people we met on the streets. Although a colporteur, this was a growing experience. It taught me that when we go out boldly for God, our labour will not be in vain, no matter how secular the environment.

LUNGA MAZEKI

CHAPTER THREE

It may not be the only reason we come to Avondale, but by definition, every College student is linked to the academic world, regardless of the outcome. At the end of the day, we're all here, striving for that one little piece of paper we get after three or four years of study that says we made it through our tertiary experience.

For some, academia may be only a part of the story; for others, the pursuit of knowledge may be a lifelong investment, and something that takes up many more chapters in their own stories. Whatever the case, keep in mind that your education doesn't finish here. You may have stopped studying – but never, never stop learning.

Like most good stories, this one starts with a strong heroine—one that you'd be happy to let your kids hang a picture of on their wall. A heroine that you would line up for hours in a mall just to get her autograph, a heroine that can give hope and courage to those in need. When first noticed, the woman of this story is not your usual hero, she doesn't wear a cape and from what I've seen she can't fly, and in most cases she's not out in the darkness fighting evil. You might ask, what makes this girl special enough to be called a heroine? What powers does she have? For those answers, you will have to read on.

Jacinda Setiawan's story starts off in Auckland, New Zealand—the Land of the Long White Cloud. Growing up, Jacinda was a creative child, bringing home paintings and drawings filling up the fridge space one artwork at a time. Her favourite game was Monopoly; unfortunately her older sister Grace wasn't such a fan. It wasn't a problem as Jacinda would sit in her room with her stuffed animals and enjoy hours of board game fun. It wasn't so bad, as she always seemed to win!

AS JACINDA GREW, HER LOVE FOR ART AND STUDY DID AS WELL.

In her high school years, Jacinda excelled in her studies, but would sometimes struggle with her science subjects. When faced with an obstacle, Jacinda took the leading lady approach of persisting until the problem was solved. For hours she would keep on with her science work until she got it (The fact that her sister is a medical lab scientist didn't hurt). This perseverance paid off when Jacinda was named Dux of her school upon graduation.

After school Jacinda made her way to Avondale where she studies a Bachelor of Arts. Among her many passions is an interest in fashion design. You can notice her eye for fashion on any given day, as Jacinda prances around campus—quirky outfits to boot. Jacinda has a unique creative spark and produces a quality of artwork that makes you take notice.

Now, you may have noticed girls around campus wearing white shirts with a textured heart decorating the front. What an amazing tee shirt! you've probably thought to yourself as you meander on by. These tops were created by none other than our story's protagonist—Jacinda Setiawan. The shirts were created as part of an assignment, in which Jacinda created a mock business called Povarty, a mixture of poverty and art. The business is a non-profit organisation aimed to curate and sell artwork for the purpose of fighting poverty. Although this business is not actively running, the idea behind it is valuable and presents a creative way to fight poverty. The slogan for the tee shirts, 'Where heart meets art,' is a perfect representation of Jacinda's idea to combat poverty with the use of artwork.

As most quality stories develop, the readers notice that their protagonist has more than just one layer. As we peel back the layers of Jacinda, we find a wealth of quirky and admirable traits. A little known fact about Jacinda is that she can speak and understand 'Indonesian'. Currently, Jacinda is attempting to read and understand her Indonesian Bible. Modest as always, Jacinda underplays how cool it is that she has a second language. As if speaking a different language wasn't enough our heroine can also play guitar and enchant audiences with her piano skills—what a girl!

WHEN PRESENTED WITH A PROBLEM, JACINDA FACES IT WITH A 'MECHANICAL' APPROACH.

Using the Myers Briggs personality quiz, Jacinda comes up as an ISTP (Introverted Sensing Thinking Perceiving). Roughly only 3.5% of females test as being ISTP so it is fair to say that Jacinda is a rare breed. Based on her personality type, Jacinda has an adventurous spirit, a compelling drive to see how things work and strong beliefs and values. Other famous 'ISTPs' are Steve Jobs, the Dalai Lama XIV and Woody Allen.

Now as we reach the end of Jacinda's story, you may be wondering what is her power? What is it that makes her a worthy heroine? Some might say that it is her unlimited passion, that if she sets her mind to something she will do it and do it well. Others could point out that she thinks in a way that is unique, that if three people were stuck in a room devoid of windows and doors she would find a way out. It might be a combination of three bobby pins and a toothpick that saves the day—who knows? Jacinda does, she just works like that. What makes Jacinda the heroine of this story is not any single reason but instead a variety. It's her creativity, her commitment and her passion.

TO SAY THAT THIS IS THE CONCLUSION OF THE STORY IS A BIT OF A MISHOMER, AS IT REALLY ISN'T A CONCLUSION AT ALL.

I would go as far as to say that this conclusion is merely the prologue to Jacinda's story. All things leading up to this point are the figurative packing of the suitcase, the suitcase that prepares Jacinda for the life journey she is about to venture into. I would not be surprised at all, the next five years time I'll flick through a magazine and see Jacinda's name as the cinema director. Instead, it might be that I'll find just a boutique, a boutique selling her clothing designs. Jacinda's potential for where she can go is unlimited; I sincerely wish her the best in everything she does and I look forward to following her story past the point stop you are about to see.

Bang Pakong, Chachengsao, Thailand.
A little girl named Ying walks casually by fires purposely set to clear the land for an upcoming Christmas celebration. Christmas in Thailand does not fall on one set day of the year, rather it lasts for weeks and people pick and choose which day they wish to be Christmas. For this reason I attended many parties with lots of Thai singing, dancing and the never-ending amounts of noodles, including the one held on this land once the fire had finished its work.

CHAPTER FOUR

Whether it's COSMOS activities to raise awareness of the world's problems, One Mission trips to far off countries, or STORM Co. trips right here in our backyard; service plays a big part in the Avondale story. It can be as simple as mowing an elderly person's lawn, or as elaborate as building churches and schools overseas. Serving others is our realisation that we have a duty to the world around us; that our lives can make an impact, no matter how small. It's about reaching out into the community, discovering causes bigger than ourselves, and fostering a passion to make a difference in our world. One life at a time.

THIS IS YOUR SERVICE STORY

A man fishes in Manacapuru River, Amazon, Brazil. These fishermen use interesting tactics to catch their food. First, they ensure that the water isn't deep, quite shallow so that it only comes up to their waists. Next, a net is strung from one side of the bank to the other and the men walk along the net, slapping the water with sticks to scare the fish and force them towards the net. As they walk closer to the net the men say they can feel the fish squirming under their feet, and they can start spear fishing.

Curiosity. Excitement. Communication.
Friendships. Learning. This is what this picture always says to me whenever I see it. On this day we were in a meeting with a small community in Nepal and instead of listening, I sat with the children. They showed me pictures and laughed at the faces
I pulled; we communicated and bonded with no language needed. I fell in love with this place and their people.

 Like Asian Aid

A story from Nepal

Two Nepali refugee sisters, Rose and Lalitha, were once deserted by their parents and had to live with their grandfather, a poor gardener, near the foothills of Bhutan. Their sad story changed in 2008 when the girls were sponsored into an Asian Aid school. "I want to be somebody when I'm older; to be of service to others," says Rose.

A man and a woman are laughing joyfully in the rain. The man, on the right, is wearing a straw hat and a green poncho over a dark shirt. The woman, on the left, is wearing a purple and white zip-up jacket. They are both smiling broadly, with their eyes closed in laughter. The background is dark and rainy, with water droplets visible in the air.

YOUR STORIES

TELL YOUR OWN STORIES HERE

This is the part of the book where you tell the story.

THIS IS YOUR STORY

The students in this book are all a part of the story that is being written at Avondale College. They all share an experience and have become a part of the stories that are being written around them. It is during the year of 2012 that we have all been able to continue writing our stories and developing our plots. I hope that this year is merely a chapter in your story and that this Jacaranda has captured the best of your memories from 2012.
